Corinth Hoops for the Holidays

The third annual Hoops for the Holidays kicked-off on Friday, November 30 in the high school gym and was a huge success! For the past two years, the event has provided Christmas gifts for families in need, as well as, donated to the Backpack program. This year the event raised approximately $7,400 and will buy Christmas for seven different district families! For more information on the event, visit the district website at www.corinthcsd.org.

Corinth students showcase the art of debate

On Wednesday, December 5, Corinth Business Law students and Queensbury Business Law students held a fall debate that took place at Corinth and was attended by students and parents. In an 88-87 score, Corinth was able to tip the scales in their favor. Both schools did an amazing job of arguing their positions, backed up with case law, current events and constitutional law. For more information and to check out some photos, visit the district website at www.corinthcsd.org.
